Russians Fire Third Nuclear Blast in Series

Moscow Radio Shuns U.S.-British Call for End to Aerial Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that the Soviet Union had detonated a third nuclear device in its current series.

The AEC said the latest explosion was "in the low to intermediate range."

A spokesman said in answer to questions that the test was conducted "in the same general area as the first two, and that it was set off in the atmosphere."

The American announcement came some hours after Moscow radio had denounced a proposal by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan to ban aerial tests. Moscow called the proposal a maneuver to justify underground tests.

The home service broadcast was the first to inform the Soviet people of the appeal by the two Western leaders.

Kennedy held the door open today for Soviet acceptance of his proposal to ban nuclear weapons testing in the atmosphere despite the Soviet Union's Monday explosion of a nuclear device, her second test in four days.

The new shot in central Asia was announced by Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Seaborg said it had a force "in the low kiloton range" and was fired in the atmosphere.

Administration officials said here the development could not be regarded as "encouraging" to U.S. and British hopes that Russia would accept the proposed test ban limitation. Nevertheless, the White House and state department declared the new explosion was not an answer to the proposal.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., Kennedy, taking a Labor Day weekend rest, cut short a cruise on Nantucket sound to return to his headquarters when word of the AEC report reached him. Andrew Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, then said the United States still hopes that the proposed restriction will be accepted by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

In Washington, the state department took the same position and Press Officer Joseph Reap declared the latest Soviet nuclear detonation "appears to be an unrelated event in view of the time element."

The time element was this: Last Wednesday, Moscow announced that after almost three years of a U.S.-British-Soviet moratorium on nuclear testing the Soviet government had decided to resume tests.

On Friday, the AEC announced that the first shot had been fired, although Moscow made no report of it at all.

Sunday, Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan formally proposed to Khrushchev that the three nuclear powers agree to ban further bursts in the earth's atmosphere. They set next Saturday as a deadline for Khrushchev's reply.

Thus the test firing Sunday morning, as reported by the AEC, came within 24 hours after the U.S.-British proposal was made.

Man Questioned In Gangtype Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 25-year-old man arrested in Columbus Monday is held here without charge for questioning about his association with the victim of a gangland-type slaying.

Detective Harry Tolan identified the man as Terrance J. Hogan, alias Daniel Molton, of Cleveland. Police said Hogan was a member of a circle of friends of Louis F. Hamblin Jr., whose bullet-riddled body was found in a ditch in Medina County Aug. 15.

Police said they also wanted to question Hogan about the $39,000 robbery of the Broadview Savitres & Loan Co. branch in suburban Rocky River July 21.

Booze-Fueled Youths Riot In 6 States; Hundreds Nabbed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Booze-fueled youthful hijinks erupted into violent disturbances in a half dozen states over the Labor Day weekend. Police arrested hundreds, aided in some cases by fire hoses and snarling dogs.

Ocean City, Md.; Lake Geneva, N.Y.; Clermont, Ind.; Hampton Beach, N.H.; Wildwood, N.J.; Russell's Point, Ohio; and Falmouth and Hyannis, Mass., felt the brunt of the youthful violence.

At Hyannis, a few miles from where President Kennedy was weekendending at his Cape Cod home, 140 young people were arrested for disorderly conduct or drunkenness. Another 32 were arrested at Falmouth.

Heavy Load Of Legislation Faces Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress plans to tackle more work this week than it has in any full month this session.

Spurring this heavy load is the prospect of final adjournment by the end of next week.

Bills involving appropriations of billions of dollars, limited assistance for schools, and a wide range of other subjects are on the dockets of both the House and Senate.

Some of them are controversial enough to stir up several days' debate each under normal conditions.

But conditions aren't normal now. When adjournment fever sets in Congress can get a lot of work done in little time.

Both branches plan to pass a scaled-down school aid bill, now that hope has been abandoned for a more comprehensive program advocated by President Kennedy. The modified measure would continue federal help for public schools in areas where there has been a heavy influx of federal workers and would renew the student loan program. The House vote on the school bill is set for Wednesday, the Senate's for Thursday.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Carla threatened northern Honduras, northeastern Guatemala and British Honduras with flooding today as she danced dangerously along a north-northwest course through the Caribbean.

Hurricane Betsy, meanwhile, whirled harmlessly in the North Atlantic, occasionally under the watchful eye of the weather satellite, Tiros.

Barometric pressures skidded in the three Central American countries during the night as Carla's skirts brought gale-force winds and heavy rains to the area.

Area School Enrollments Being Completed

City and county schools resumed today with a current total enrollment of 7,238 students.

This figure is expected to increase by the end of the week, according to school administrators. Additional enrollments are anticipated, especially in the county schools where students face annual harvest work and other essential activities.

Circleville reported an enrollment of 2,922 following Friday's opening day. The incomplete county figure was 4,316.

Leading the city list was Circleville High School with a record 701 pupils. Other schools listed 653 at Corwin St., 488 at Franklin-Mound, 430 at Atwater, 225 at Walnut, 171 at High St., 166 at S. Court St. and 88 at Wayne Twp.

The county enrollment of 4,316 compares to a final enumeration at the last school term of 4,393. Superintendent George McDowell said a final accounting for this period probably will pass the figure for last year.

Early figures showed Teays Valley leading the three districts this term with 1,899 students. Westfall followed with 1,438 and Logan Elm counted 979.

Logan Elm's high school enrollment of 246 is the same as that recorded last school term. The number Friday listed 127 boys and 119 girls.

George A. Hartman, city superintendent, today said critical spots here this year are in kindergarten and first and second graders where classes are over-size.

Hartman and his staff currently are working to transfer 22 second grade students from overcrowded classes at Franklin-Mound. The superintendent said the pupils will be moved to all schools in the system in an effort to equalize numbers.

According to Hartman, all classes got off to a good start Friday. He said the Labor Day holiday allowed teachers to make final adjustments and preparations for the always busy first full week of school.

Reds Hand 8-Year Term To U.S. 'Spy'

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet military court in Kiev today sentenced American tourist Marvin William Makinen of Cassell, Mich., to eight years in prison on espionage charges.

The Soviet government paper Izvestia reported Makinen's conviction and sentencing after a two-day trial. It said Makinen had given the court a full confession of his spying activities.

Izvestia, in a four-column article, described the American student's vacation trip through Czechoslovakia, Hungary and southern Russia. It also published two photographs showing his small German-made automobile with a West Berlin license plate and a page of notes he kept on his trip.

The article said Makinen, a former student of Pennsylvania University in Philadelphia, was studying at West Berlin's Free University when he was recruited for spy work by two American intelligence agents identified as "Bill" and "Dyer."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those ancient and remarkable Greeks thought of everything.

"And, my soul," Latimer said, "it worked."

Holiday Highway Toll Runs Below Ohio, U.S. Predictions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From a traffic fatality standpoint, this was Ohio's safest Labor Day weekend in at least six years.

Still, at least 15 persons met death on the state's streets and highways from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday, according to an Associated Press tabulation and the Ohio Highway Patrol's count.

Since 1956, when the Department of Highway Safety began keeping such records, highway fatalities have averaged 26 in Ohio over this holiday weekend.

It was anybody's guess whether vehicle headlights burning brightly in the daylight had anything to do with reducing the highway carnage.

The American Trucking Association sponsored the campaign to have cars, trucks and buses throughout Ohio keep their headlights on in the daytime as a constant safety reminder to other motorists during the weekend.

At any rate, not a multiple fatality traffic accident was reported in the state.

Besides the traffic slaughter, Ohio registered at least five drownings—two in one boating accident — and 7 miscellaneous fatalities in the 78-hour period.

The pace of traffic deaths on the nation's highways slackened during the closing hours of the

West Airlines Get Jittery About Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The three Western airlines flying to West Berlin are growing jittery over the Soviet and East German Communist threats to control the three air corridors they have been using for almost 16 years.

Pan American, British European Airways and Air France are pondering how long they can continue to fly to airfields in the Communist-surrounded city.

East Germany's Red regime, backed by the Soviets, has made threatening noises and even suggested this civilian travel be directed to their own East Berlin airport, Schoenefeld.

The men who fly the planes say the Communists could control the corridors — and force their companies to stop flying—without using fighter planes.

The East Germans could break into the radio navigation beam, creating a hazardous blank for the pilot landing or taking off. Or the Soviets could withdraw their personnel from the four-power air safety center that polices the corridors. That would turn the air over Berlin into something of a jungle.

In either case, said one flying officer, the safety hazard would be too great for the companies to continue flying.

U.S., Russian Chiefs To Get Special Plea

Big Powers Asked To Try To Ease Tension in World

BELGRADE (AP)—The conference of 25 nonaligned nations drew up a joint appeal today to President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev to take urgent new steps to ease the cold war.

Although still divided on a number of issues raised at the conference, the leaders of the conference delegations agreed on a message to be sent to Kennedy and Khrushchev. It was expected to appeal for them to meet once more in an effort to ease tension over Berlin and to seek progress toward disarmament.

Reports circulated that the conference would send special delegations to Moscow and Washington with the messages. One persistent report said Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana would take the message to Khrushchev, while President Modibo Keita of Mali and either President Sukarno of Indonesia or President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic would go to Washington.

Nehru already has been delegated by the conference to seek Soviet agreement to the U.S. British proposal to ban nuclear tests on a trip he scheduled prior to coming to Belgrade.

The conference was scheduled to end today, its fifth, but a committee trying to draft a joint communique of agreed policies worked until 5 a.m. and still had a third of its work to do.

One Asian member of the drafting committee said the committee received and rejected a proposal to recommend that all 25 nations at the Belgrade conference recognize the Communist East German government. The committee member said the group had approved a draft statement on Germany, Laos and Mauritania "and some other subjects."

The communique was expected to contain many compromises, since it must be acceptable to nations ranging from monarchist Ethiopia to Communist Yugoslavia, from anti-American Cuba to pro-Western Cyprus.

Nehru led the faction that wanted to emphasize the war threat and the need for East-West negotiations, preferably at the summit.

But the majority of delegates, including President Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos, wanted to place the main stress on colonialism. Their fire was directed most at the French in Algeria and the Portuguese in Angola. Nothing was said about Communist domination of Eastern Europe.

Californians Battle Fires in Forests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A force of 5,000 men fought for the fourth day today to contain an outburst of forest, range and brush fires the length of California.

More than 150,000 acres have been burned over since Saturday in 170 fires that flared from San Diego in the south more than 700 miles to the north.

Forestry officials said damages would run to millions of dollars. More than 150 structures, including a high school gym, private homes and a saw mill, have been gutted. Five persons died from fire-connected causes. The victims included two motorists, the pilot of a chemical bombing plane and two persons who died from heart attacks.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Labor Day was memorable in Los Angeles for sparkling, smog-free skies and the highest temperature of the year.

long Labor Day weekend and today appeared likely to fall short of the preholiday estimate of 420.

Safety experts said there was a possibility the total might be under 400 and the lowest since the traffic death toll of 364 in the 1954 Labor Day weekend. However, belated reports may boost the total.

The count for the 78-hour holiday period, from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, showed 384 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents. Other accidents killed 24 in boating, 59 in drownings and 69 from miscellaneous causes, an over-all toll of 539.

The National Safety Council said it appeared certain that the toll would not reach the 420 the counts had estimated before the holiday. The council said it also appeared likely that this year's total would be lower than the 415 killed in traffic accidents in the 1960 three-day Labor Day holiday.

The record death toll for a Labor Day weekend is 461 in 1951. The lowest traffic toll for the holiday weekend in the postwar period was in 1946.

The council said traffic deaths for a nonholiday weekend at this time of year would be 330. However, an Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes in a 78-hour non-holiday period from Aug. 18 to Aug. 21, showed 390 traffic fatalities. The survey also showed 14 deaths in boating accidents, 47 drownings and 97 killed in miscellaneous type accidents, a total of 548.

U.S. Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, former President Harry S. Truman, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner joined union officials from this country and abroad on the reviewing stand.

Goldberg called the event the greatest Labor Day parade of the labor movement in America.

Goldberg echoed President Kennedy who had said in an advance message that the day contrasts the achievements of free American labor with the state of labor in the Communist world.

In Washington, AFL-CIO President George Meany said substantial progress has been made under President Kennedy, but he said "more vigorous action is needed."

Meany, in a Labor Day message, said achievements under Kennedy have been "overshadowed by the hard and painful fact of high-level unemployment."

Contracts with the Big Three ran out Aug. 31, but were extended on the last-minute request of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. The UAW said, however, it wouldn't work an hour past 10 a.m. Wednesday at GM without a new contract.

Los Angeles Mercury Rockets Up to 101

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Labor Day was memorable in Los Angeles for sparkling, smog-free skies and the highest temperature of the year.

The mercury rose to a sweltering 101 degrees at 2:35 p.m., equaling the all-time high for the date set in 1955. But the relative humidity reading was only 8 percent.

U.S., Russian Chiefs To Get Special Plea

Big Powers Asked To Try To Ease Tension in World

BELGRADE (AP)—The conference of 25 nonaligned nations drew up a joint appeal today to President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev to take urgent new steps to ease the cold war.

Although still divided on a number of issues raised at their conference, the leaders of the conference delegations agreed on a message to be sent to Kennedy and Khrushchev. It was expected to appeal for them to meet once more in an effort to ease tension over Berlin and to seek progress toward disarmament.

Reports circulated that the conference would send special delegations to Moscow and Washington with the messages. One persistent report said Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana would take the message to Khrushchev, while President Modibo Keita of Mali and either President Sukarno of Indonesia or President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic would go to Washington.

Nehru already has been delegated by the conference to seek Soviet agreement to the U.S.-British proposal to ban nuclear tests on a trip he scheduled prior to coming to Belgrade.

The conference was scheduled to end today, its fifth, but a committee trying to draft a joint communique of agreed policies worked until 5 a.m. and still had a third of its work to do.

One Asian member of the drafting committee said the committee received and rejected a proposal to recommend that all 25 nations at the Belgrade conference recognize the Communist East German government. The committee member said the group had approved a draft statement on Germany, Laos and Mauritania "and some other subjects."

The communique was expected to contain many compromises, since it must be acceptable to nations ranging from monarchist Ethiopia to Communist Yugoslavia, from anti-American Cuba to pro-Western Cyprus.

Nehru led the faction that wanted to emphasize the war threat and the need for East-West negotiations, preferably at the summit.

But the majority of delegates, including President Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos, wanted to place the main stress on colonialism. Their fire was directed most at the French in Algeria and the Portuguese in Angola. Nothing was said about Communist domination of Eastern Europe.

Californians Battle Fires in Forests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A force of 5,000 men fought for the fourth day today to contain an outburst of forest, range and brush fires the length of California.

More than 150,000 acres have been burned over since Saturday in 170 fires that flared from San Diego in the south more than 700 miles to the north.

Forestry officials said damages would run to millions of dollars. More than 150 structures, including a high school gym, private homes and a saw mill, have been gutted. Five persons died from fire-connected causes. The victims included two motorists, the pilot of a chemical bombing plane and two persons who died from heart attacks.

Excursion Boat Sinks

Latest Brazil Crisis Solved; Goulart To Assume Presidency

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — The presidential press office announced the latest crisis blocking Joao Goulart's assumption of the presidency has been solved and he will fly to this capital today.

The crisis was the reported rebellion of a group of air force men to bar Goulart's return.

There was no immediate word as to how this was settled.

The crisis blew up in the night when congressional leaders announced that an air force rebellion had flared. But the air force chief of staff denied any such uprising.

The announcement of the settlement was made after acting President Ranieri Mazzilli conferred

Twins' Moms Form Group To Aid Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mothers of twins have formed a national group to supply medical researchers with information about the birth and behavior of twins.

Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today issued a non-profit corporation charter to the national organization of Mothers of Twin Clubs with headquarters at Apple Creek, near Wooster.

The incorporation followed the first national convention of Mothers of Twin Clubs from various states last month in Milwaukee. The first meeting of the group was held a year ago last June in Canton, Ohio.

Trustees of the national organization, all mothers of twins, are: Marge M. (Mrs. Thomas J.) Ainsworth, Toledo, Ohio; Marian P. (Mrs. Thomas O.) Meyer, Wayne, Pa.; Jeanette M. (Mrs. Beloit C.) Kinzer, Cosumebus, Neb., and Barbara Ann (Mrs. James T.) McHugh, Levittown, Pa.

Mary N. (Mrs. Eugene) Matuck of Apple Creek is statutory agent and national executive secretary of the new corporation. She is the mother of 12-year-old daughters. Mrs. Matuck, formerly of Mansfield, said Ohio has a federation of about 40 local Mothers of Twins Clubs embracing about 1,000 members. Other states have similar federations.

She said the Ohio Federation is cooperating with the Health Department in Washington and with Dr. J. H. Bruell of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, in studies on twins and human genetics.

Tools Missing From Parked Car

Several tools were stolen from the rear of a station wagon parked near the Sewage Plant Saturday, according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

George Rogers, Canal Road, told Sheriff Walton W. Spangler a tackle box full of wrenches, a power saw, a 10-point Diston saw and a hammer were missing.

Sheriff Spangler said a worker at the Sewage Plant saw three persons in the area about the time the theft occurred.

The license number of the suspect's auto is being traced.

more than an hour in the government palace with the three ministers of the armed forces.

Stunned congressmen summoned to an extraordinary 17-minute session were chilled by an announcement that air force dissidents apparently were determined to gun down Goulart's plane if he tried to fly to Brasilia to be sworn in.

Hours later Brig. Ismar Brasil, head of the general staff in Rio de Janeiro, declared there was "most complete calm in all air force units."

In a communique he said he was in permanent contact with commanders of all air zones and is in a position to deny "with assurance tendentious news divulged with the objective to disturb public opinion."

The communique said all air force units were under complete discipline and carrying out government orders, and that the air minister, Gabriel Grum Moss, was in the capital with other members of the government carrying out his duties.

The air force statement did not quell completely reports of an uprising. A source close to air force leaders said it seemed there was a small defection limited to a small area near Brasilia. The source said one of the defecting leaders was Brig. Antonio Guedes Muniz.

The Light Side

Appreciated gestures come in various forms. . . one performed last week was by W. W. Mortimer, a works engineer at DuPont.

Mortimer utilized the local Jaycees insect spray unit to douse the CHS football field in preparation for Friday's Band Mothers Preview. . . he hitched the sprayer to a rig and hauled it with his car.

Band Mothers and fans agreed his effort made for a more enjoyable evening. Mosquitos, a pesky menace here for the last several weeks, did not attack in force Friday at the gridiron.

Lt. Noble Barr of the Circleville Fire Department tells this one. . . while sleeping in the small ground floor office at the fire station Sunday night he was awakened by a peculiar ticking sound.

Suddenly a loud crash similar to an explosion brought him out of bed and running to the front door to investigate . . . however, nothing seemed to be amiss. . .

But a closer look disclosed that a corner portion of ceiling plaster had fallen in the office and struck a chair. A bare spot on the ceiling and several dented marks on a chair directly below verified Barr's story. . . if the plaster had fallen at the opposite corner it would have struck the sleeping firemen squarely on the head.

The Junior-Senior League monthly dinner meetings which were suspended during the summer will be resumed on September 13 starting at 5:30 p. m. at the parish house. This first meeting will be a Fun Nite for which preparations are being made for a "Backwards Party."

Man Is Held For Threats To Deputy

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—James Wooddall, 30, a resident of Crestview Allotment at the southern edge of Ravenna, was in Portage County jail here today charged with assaulting an officer with a deadly weapon.

Wooddall fled into a wooded area after holding a sheriff's deputy at bay with a shotgun at his home about midnight Monday night, but surrendered about 2½ hours later.

Detective Howard Leland of the Portage County Sheriff's department had gone to Wooddall's trailer home to investigate a report that Wooddall was threatening the three children of his brother, Ralph, with a shotgun.

Deputies said James Wooddall pointed a shotgun at Leland in his trailer, then escaped through a door after ordering the detective to turn off the lights. He fled into a wooded area along Sandy Lake Road off Ohio 44.

Joining deputies in the search for Wooddall were the Ohio Highway Patrol and police from Hiram, Kent, Ravenna, Mogadore and Garrettsville.

Ralph Wooddall lives next door to his brother, deputies said.

Business Decline Indicated by Treasurer Report

Pickaway County's retail business showed a slight decline for the week ending August 18, compared to the same week one year ago, according to a report from State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson's office.

Ferguson's report disclosed that prepaid tax receipts for the week were $3,324.06 and for the corresponding week in 1960 were $3,937.04 or $612.98 less.

Summit County showed one of the greatest decreases in the State. Collections ending August 19, 1961, totaled $127,047.71 and for the same week in 1960, $190,857.61.

Ferguson commented that prepaid tax receipts on a state-wide level had increased for the week ending August 19, the last week figures have been compiled. The state total is $2,612,269.28, compared to $2,585,611.94 for the same period last year.

Construction Helps 2 Boys Flee Jail

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Construction going on at the Lake County jail enabled two boys to escape from the juvenile detention center in the building Monday. Because of the construction, the sheriff's department said, three boys had to go outside and around the building to return dinner dishes and trays to the jail kitchen. Two of the boys broke away from a guard and disappeared into downtown Painesville, triggering a countywide search.

Campaign Expense Accounting

Working on a measure to require more information on campaign expenditures, a Senate subcommittee is thinking in terms of a bill that would raise legal spending ceilings and grant tax credits for campaign contributions.

There is at present a ceiling of $3 million on campaign spending by national committees. This bill would lift the ceiling to $14 million for a national campaign. A Senate candidate could spend $50,000, plus 10 cents for each vote over a million. A House of Representatives nominee would be limited to $12,500.

As is the case now, no one could contribute more than $5,000 to a single candidate or committee, but no limit is put on the number of separate contributions. All political committees would be required to list name and address of each contributor of $100 or more and report expenditures in excess of $100.

The proposed bill may or may not be an improvement over present practice, but reporting of campaign expenditures is frequently spacious. Arithmetical envisions devised to keep reported spending well within limits are not up to expected standards for public servants.

Labor Day — Labor as Usual

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—They call it Labor Day, when the nation takes a holiday and honors work by abstaining from it.

Labor Day? It's just another day on the job for the bus driver, the sailor at sea, bartenders, airplane pilots and hostesses, chefs, waitresses, night club singers and strip-tease dancers.

Labor Day? It doesn't mean a thing to watchmen, circus elephants, the cop on the beat, railroad engineers and conductors, the men who pull switches in electric power plants, and the fellows who watch the unpushed alarm button that could launch atomic world war.

It's just business as usual to the lion in the zoo, radio and TV announcers, musicians, druggists, caddies and cabbies, telephone operators, bellhops, movie ushers, busboys and the men who ring church bells.

Labor Day? What does it mean to race-horses, jockeys, baseball players, hotel desk clerks, forest rangers, bookies, long distance truck drivers, filling station attendants, dairy farmers, people who operate dog kennels, and fellows who wheel around little white carts and sell ice cream sticks to children? It means nothing but the same old daily grind.

Labor Day? It means even more work for many housewives, traffic cops, lifeguards, ambulance drivers, hospital nurses and doctors on emergency duty, morgue employees, bridge and highway toll collectors, amusement park workers—and pickpockets.

Labor Day? When you get right down to it, who does get a real rest from toil on Labor Day?

Well, anyway, there's you — and me.

Aren't we the lucky ones?

Labor Attitude Changed

By George Sokolsky

The attitude of American labor has, on the whole, changed since the unions have become enormously rich and the maintenance of union membership depends upon the prosperity of particular industries.

For instance, some unions are losing members because the industries are being destroyed by competition from abroad and a sufficient loss of membership could lessen the significance of the union.

The coal industry, which for many years played a vital role in labor union affairs, is rapidly losing in significance. In fact, the industry has suffered so from the substitution of natural gas, and petroleum products for coal that West Virginia, which prospered on coal, is suffering economic distress. Also, as fewer workers are employed in the coal industry, the union loses membership. The days of John Mitchell and of John L. Lewis, when the United Mine Workers was the leading union in the United States, are gone not because of labor union mismanagement but because the role of the coal industry has changed in the American economy.

In the days of Mark Hanna, it was industry which demanded protection. The high tariff existed to protect infant industries. Today big industries have branches and subsidiaries scattered throughout the world. Their natural interests are mixed. An American automobile company may not deal with Red China or with Castro. This company's subsidiary, situated in Canada, not only may deal with Red China and Cuba, but under certain circumstances must obey Canada's policy on this subject. Thus, American capital may be used against the United States. In fact, certain American plants, established in Europe with the object of dealing with Iron Curtain countries, do, in effect, betray the best interests of the United States.

American labor has, on the whole, been uncompromisingly anti-Communist. Communist influence has disappeared altogether from the A.F.L.-C.I.O. and no important labor leader no matter what his attitude was in the 1930's, would today join even a remote front organization.

When Mikoyan came to this country to seduce American industry, he met with considerable success among businessmen and bankers but he was given an antagonistic reception by American labor leaders. The same happened to Khrushchev. This attitude of American labor expresses itself even in such episodes as American longshoremen refusing to load or unload Communist goods.

The tariff is not an immediate issue in this country but some labor unions are demanding to know why their industries are being destroyed and their people put out of work because of the import of foreign goods, manufactured by lower priced labor. Often foreign governments subsidize their own industries to sell goods in the American market in order to get American dollars. This question will loom larger during the next few years, the more labor unions become conscious of the terrible cost in jobs and similar policies.

In a word, instead of American industry demanding a protective tariff, it is American labor which is already clamoring for protection. From a practical standpoint, unemployment is damaging in many ways. First of all, is the lack of family income. Unemployment must be measured not only by a total lack of work but also by partial lack of work. The man who only works 20 hours a week is half employed, which means that his family income has been decreased. If we take present figures and analyze them from that standpoint between 7,500,000 and 10,000,000 Americans are unemployed. Labor unions take this seriously.

Secondly, there has been an astonishing shift from manufacturing to service industries. The largest union in the United States, the Teamsters Union, is engaged in a service industry. Many of the older unions are losing members to the newer service industries.

Finally, it is to be noted that the type of leader that modern labor produces in the United States is, on the whole, professional rather than political. Even a union managed by James Hoffa, who does play politics, is in its up-coming echelons increasingly professional.

The Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg, is an unusual personality who brings to the labor movement a statesmanship which has heretofore not been visible in that office. Goldberg's effort has been to settle labor disputes without strikes and when a strike occurs, he moves into the middle of it, to bring about peace and order. He is probably the most articulate member of the President's Cabinet.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Forced retirement can kill just as well as a hangman's noose. It smotherers you with soft kindness until you have nothing left to live for!

Oldsters proved good workers during World War II when young men were hard to find. But today, birthday — not ability — determines retirement. And so you're pensioned and pocket-watched with solid gold walking papers.

You're not being let out to pasture. You're being kicked, whipped and pushed out there. No one remembers how proudly you labored day after day. Or the satisfaction you felt after hurrying giant obstacles, sometimes long after the 5 o'clock whistle had sounded. Without these satisfactions, life becomes hollow emptiness.

If you're to be judged by the calendar instead of your caliber, part ahead. It is worth leaving friends and family to live with other retired folks in sunny Florida or California? Can a hobby absorb your strength, your interest, your labor?

A do-it-yourself carpenter can turn out furniture needy people couldn't otherwise afford. And radio hams often relay vital — and sometimes lifesaving — messages.

Start now! Choose a pastime that can keep you busy doing things for others.

Everyone needs to be needed. The right hobby can make you more essential than that old job. Perhaps you can teach your skills to classrooms of youngsters. Who can teach machine — operating better than a man with 30 years of experience. Maybe the company will keep you on as a part-time shooter. You don't have to feel useless.

You might even try jotting down your experiences and philosophy of life. Yours is as good as the next man's — probably better. Herbert Hoover, who is now 87 years old, still works ten hours a day, writing three books at one time.

Retirement needn't force you to take 365 holidays a year. Every day can be a labor day, if you want.

What about the 65-year-old housewife? If she's entitled to retire, who's going to keep house for you?

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

These are stirring times indeed: statistics show Americans now down 318 million cups of coffee a day!

Thomas Jefferson was not only one of our best presidents, but he also introduced waffles to this country. An all-around good guy!

At Lysekil, Sweden, an automobile collided with a submarine when it rolled down a dock and smashed into the boat's bow. Just more proof that you can do anything — if you try hard enough!

A horse will wear out approximately six pairs of shoes — that's 24! — a year, we read. However, it's the owner who has to pay for 'em!

Campaign Expense Accounting

Working on a measure to require more information on campaign expenditures, a Senate subcommittee is thinking in terms of a bill that would raise legal spending ceilings and grant tax credits for campaign contributions.

There is at present a ceiling of $3 million on campaign spending by national committees. This bill would lift the ceiling to $14 million for a national campaign. A Senate candidate could spend $50,000, plus 10 cents for each vote over a million. A House of Representatives nominee would be limited to $12,500.

As is the case now, no one could contribute more than $5,000 to a single candidate or committee, but no limit is put on the number of separate contributions. All political committees would be required to list name and address of each contributor of $100 or more and report expenditures in excess of $100.

The proposed bill may or may not be an improvement over present practice, but reporting of campaign expenditures is frequently spacious. Arithmetical envisions devised to keep reported spending well within limits are not up to expected standards for public servants.

Labor Day — Labor as Usual

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—They call it Labor Day, when the nation takes a holiday and honors work by abstaining from it.

Labor Day? It's just another day on the job for the bus driver, the sailor at sea, bartenders, airplane pilots and hostesses, chefs, waitresses, night club singers and strip-tease dancers.

Labor Day? It doesn't mean a thing to watchmen, circus elephants, the cop on the beat, railroad engineers and conductors, the men who pull switches in electric power plants, and the fellows who watch the unpushed alarm button that could launch atomic world war.

It's just business as usual to the lion in the zoo, radio and TV announcers, musicians, druggists, caddies and cabbies, telephone operators, bellhops, movie ushers, busboys and the men who ring church bells.

Labor Day? What does it mean to race-horses, jockeys, baseball players, hotel desk clerks, forest rangers, bookies, long distance truck drivers, filling station attendants, dairy farmers, people who operate dog kennels, and fellows who wheel around little white carts and sell ice cream sticks to children? It means nothing but the same old daily grind.

Labor Day? It means even more work for many housewives, traffic cops, lifeguards, ambulance drivers, hospital nurses and doctors on emergency duty, morgue employees, bridge and highway toll collectors, amusement park workers—and pickpockets.

Labor Day? When you get right down to it, who does get a real rest from toil on Labor Day?

Well, anyway, there's you — and me.

Aren't we the lucky ones?

Labor Attitude Changed

By George Sokolsky

The attitude of American labor has, on the whole, changed since the unions have become enormously rich and the maintenance of union membership depends upon the prosperity of particular industries.

For instance, some unions are losing members because the industries are being destroyed by competition from abroad and a sufficient loss of membership could lessen the significance of the union.

The coal industry, which for many years played a vital role in labor union affairs, is rapidly losing in significance. In fact, the industry has suffered so much from the substitution of natural gas and petroleum products for coal that West Virginia, which prospered on coal, is suffering economic distress. Also, as fewer workers are employed in the coal industry, the union loses membership. The days of John Mitchell and of John L. Lewis, when the United Mine Workers was the leading union in the United States, are gone not because of labor union mismanagement but because the role of the coal industry has changed in the American economy.

In the days of Mark Hanna, it was industry which demanded protection. The high tariff existed to protect infant industries. Today big industries have branches and subsidiaries scattered throughout the world. Their natural interests are mixed. An American automobile company may not deal with Red China or with Castro. This company's subsidiary, situated in Canada, not only may deal with Red China and Cuba, but under certain circumstances must obey Canada's policy on this subject. Thus, American capital may be used against the United States. In fact, certain American plants, established in Europe with the object of dealing with Iron Curtain countries, do, in effect, betray the best interests of the United States.

American labor has, on the whole, been uncompromisingly anti-Communist. Communist influence has disappeared altogether from the A.F.L.-C.I.O. and no important labor leader no matter what his attitude was in the 1930's, would today join even a remote front organization.

When Mikoyan came to this country to seduce American industry, he met with considerable success among businessmen and bankers but he was given an antagonistic reception by American labor leaders. The same happened to Khrushchev. This attitude of American labor expresses itself even in such episodes as American longshoremen refusing to load or unload Communist goods.

The tariff is not an immediate issue in this country but some labor unions are demanding to know why their industries are being destroyed and their people put out of work because of the import of foreign goods, manufactured by lower priced labor. Often foreign governments subsidize their own industries to sell goods in the American market in order to get American dollars. This question will loom larger during the next few years, the more labor unions become conscious of the terrible cost in jobs and similar policies.

In a word, instead of American industry demanding a protective tariff, it is American labor which is already clamoring for protection. From a practical standpoint, unemployment is damaging in many ways. First of all, is the lack of family income. Unemployment must be measured not only by a total lack of work but also by partial lack of work. The man who only works 20 hours a week is half employed, which means that his family income has been decreased. If we take present figures and analyze them from that standpoint between 7,500,000 and 10,000,000 Americans are unemployed. Labor unions take this seriously.

Secondly, there has been an astonishing shift from manufacturing to service industries. The largest union in the United States, the Teamsters Union, is engaged in a service industry. Many of the older unions are losing members to the newer service industries.

Finally, it is to be noted that the type of leader that modern labor produces in the United States is, on the whole, professional rather than political. Even a union managed by James Hoffa, who does play politics, is in its up-coming echelons increasingly professional.

The Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg, is an unusual personality who brings to the labor movement a statesmanship which has heretofore not been visible in that office. Goldberg's effort has been to settle labor disputes without strikes and when a strike occurs, he moves into the middle of it, to bring about peace and order. He is probably the most articulate member of the President's Cabinet.

Threat of Auto Walkout Hangs Darkly over Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The threat of an automobile strike hangs darkly over the economy.

A strike's effects would spread far beyond the auto industry itself. In addition to creating a shortage of new cars, it would cut sharply into orders for steel, rubber, glass and many other items which go into cars.

The UAW's precedent-shattering, profit-sharing agreement with American Motors complicated negotiations with the industry's Big three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The Big Three said they have no intention of following along with profit-sharing.

The UAW said it isn't insistent on a profit-sharing provision in other contracts as long as equal gains were forthcoming.

An unsettled labor situation developed in the railroad industry, too, during the week.

U.S. District Court in Philadelphia issued an injunction preventing the Transport Workers Union from striking against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In another development, unions representing 600,000 workers — freight handlers and maintenance and service crafts — demanded of the nation's railroads a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase and at least six-month advance notice of job layoffs.

President Kennedy, at his news conference, urged the steel industry to abstain from a price increase when wage boosts of 7 to 10 cents an hour go into effect Oct. 1.

Kennedy said his economists have advised him that the wage hikes can be absorbed and the companies still make a good profit.

Steel executives had nothing to say.

Iron Age, the metalworking trade publication, predicted selective increases of $2.50 to $3.50 a ton.

Steel production during the week exceeded two million tons for the first time since early June. The 2.02 million tons represented a 3.9 per cent gain over the previous week. The industry, however, still was operating below 70 per cent of capacity.

The auto industry stepped up its production of 1962 models to an estimated 89,000 passenger cars, compared with 60,000 last week and 51,711 a year ago.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said the economy may be producing goods and services at the record rate of $540 billion a year by the end of this year. Earlier predictions of the fourth-quarter rate had been $530 billion to $535 billion.

Stock sales during the week totaled 15,163,690 shares, down from the previous week's 17,211,714 shares but ahead of the 14,952,240 shares for the comparable week a year ago.

Bond sales were up at $27,491,000.

Mother of 11 Killed By 31-Year-Old Mate

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Cleon Gallagher, 31, admitted fatally shooting his wife, Maxine, 35, mother of 11 children, Monday and was charged with murder, Portage County Sheriff Ross Dustman reported.

The shooting took place in the Gallagher home in nearby Deerfield. Dustman said Gallagher admitted shooting his wife twice with a .32-caliber pistol—once in the stomach and once in the hip—as she walked through a doorway leading to the kitchen.

Deputies said the shooting followed a quarrel concerning Shirley Burke, 16, Mrs. Gallagher's daughter by a previous marriage.

Lancaster Woman, 42, Kills Estranged Mate

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Kathrine Smith, 42, shot and killed her estranged husband, Earl, 46 during a quarrel that erupted after he visited her home just outside nearby Millersport Monday, Sheriff Jack Blazer said.

The sheriff said the Millersport man had not been living with his wife for some time. During their quarrel, he said, Mrs. Smith ran to a bedroom, got a small caliber pistol and shot her husband in the chest.

She was held for investigation.

Threat of Auto Walkout Hangs Darkly over Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The threat of an automobile strike hangs darkly over the economy.

A strike's effects would spread far beyond the auto industry itself. In addition to creating a shortage of new cars, it would cut sharply into orders for steel, rubber, glass and many other items which go into cars.

The UAW's precedent-shattering, profit-sharing agreement with American Motors complicated negotiations with the industry's Big three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The Big Three said they have no intention of following along with profit-sharing.

The UAW said it isn't insistent on a profit-sharing provision in other contracts as long as equal gains were forthcoming.

An unsettled labor situation developed in the railroad industry, too, during the week.

U.S. District Court in Philadelphia issued an injunction preventing the Transport Workers Union from striking against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In another development, unions representing 600,000 workers — freight handlers and maintenance and service crafts — demanded of the nation's railroads a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase and at least six-month advance notice of job layoffs.

President Kennedy, at his news conference, urged the steel industry to abstain from a price increase when wage boosts of 7 to 10 cents an hour go into effect Oct. 1.

Kennedy said his economists have advised him that the wage hikes can be absorbed and the companies still make a good profit.

Steel executives had nothing to say.

Iron Age, the metalworking trade publication, predicted selective increases of $2.50 to $3.50 a ton.

Steel production during the week exceeded two million tons for the first time since early June. The 2.02 million tons represented a 3.9 per cent gain over the previous week. The industry, however, still was operating at low 70 per cent of capacity.

Employment attained a record for August but the unemployment rate remained unchanged at 6.9 per cent of the labor force.

Employment was up 40,000 from July to 68,539,000, compared with 68,282,000 a year ago. Unemployment was down 598,000 from July against 3,788,000 a year earlier. The jobless decline was attributed mainly to seasonal factors.

The Commerce Department manufacturers in July rose 0.2 per cent from June to an annual rate of $31.2 billion. Defense orders were partly responsible.

Spending on new construction projects in August amounted to $5.433 billion, one per cent ahead of July. In August 1960 the outlay was $5.205 billion.

Hard-pressed railroads with heavy commuter loads were encouraged by an Interstate Commerce Commission recommendation of subsidies costing an estimated $52 million a year to preserve essential passenger services.

Briefly around the business scene: American car owners spent $5.9 billion for insurance in 1960 but the cost of accidents totaled $7.6 million. . . . The Navy will award $834.7 million in contracts to private shipyards for construction and overhaul of ships. . . . Radio Corp. of America predicts 1962 sales of the color television industry will reach $200 million, nearly double those of this year.

Some Brush-Up Tips For House Painters

By ELEANOR ROSS

This is a good time of year for painting the house. While it is quite a job, we've been watching many friends and neighbors tackle it successfully and turning out quite a professional - looking job. They buy quality paint in the color of their choice; they prepare the surface carefully and then they get going.

Sash and Trim

The first thing to be done is to painting the window sash and trim if these are to be a different color from the body of the house. The reason for doing these parts first, say the experts, is that it avoids having to rest your ladder against the freshly-painted siding.

For brighter, longer - lasting colors, they specify exterior enamel or special trim paints.

Once the windows are taken care of, you're ready for the body of the house.

Placing Ladder

Stand near the lower right-hand corner of the house and see how far to your right you can reach comfortably without endangering your balance. Here's the place to put your ladder, making sure that it is standing firmly and that its foot is at a distance from the house equal to about one-quarter of its length.

Climb carefully to the top, toting your bucket of paint to which is attached a hook so that you can hang it from a ladder rung. Tote your brush - about 3 1/2 to 4 inches is the best size.

Take with you, too, a rag saturated with paint thinner to remove spots in case paint is splashed on the newly - painted trim. Deposit the paint in several spots and join them together by brushing the paint out in long, sweeping strokes.

With horizontal siding, paint the double back and paint the face. If the siding is vertical, first paint the grooves between each board, then the face.

Use your whole arm and paint with the grain where possible, applying the paint from the end of the brush, using both sides of each brushful. Use only enough pressure to curl the end of the bristles slightly. End strokes with a gradual lifting motion.

Best Method

Work from a dry area into a wet one and end your paint where the new and just - painted areas meet. Obliterate any brush marks with light, quick strokes of a nearly dry brush.

Most experts recommend working from the top down without moving the ladder. Then start at the top again and paint down. Then there's the school that says it is far better to move the ladder or work from a safe platform so that you can paint completely across the house at each level, this to avoid laps.

Prevent Lap Marks

Whatever you do, try to finish each day's or half day's work painting at a window or a corner, again to prevent lap marks.

If you are applying two coats, wait at least 48 hours between coats before starting the new one. If, however, you are using latex house paint, it can usually be recoated in an hour or so or whatever time is specified on the label.

Pythian Sisters Plan Meeting Thursday

The Pythian Sisters of Majors Temple No. 516 will meet 8 p. m. Thursday in the K of P Lodge Hall. The lunch committee will consist of Ethel Lane, chairman; Frances Barr, Mary Clark and Eleanor Fisher.

Want a delicious topping for muffins? Sprinkle equal parts of brown sugar and finely chopped nutmeats over the muffin batter before baking.

Ohio Native Actor Dies At Age of 77

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Death has ended the 50-year career of actor Fred A. Kelsey, who portrayed character roles in scores of silent and talking pictures.

Kelsey, 77, died Saturday at the Motion Picture Country Home and Hospital in Woodland Hills. Word of his death reached his colleagues Monday.

A derby hat, thick cigar and cropped moustache were Kelsey's most frequent props in early films. A native of Sandusky, Ohio, he began his movie career in 1909 in the East, and came to Hollywood with the late D. W. Griffith after World War I.

His early sound films included "On Trial" and "Tenderloin." Previously he appeared in many silents, among them "Yellow Dog" and "The Gorilla," and in "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" with Rudolph Valentino he enacted four different German officers.

Kelsey had been ill several months. Funeral services were set for today.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

He Did - but He Didn't

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married only a short time. He was previously married, but I was not.

Although my problem might not sound very serious to you, it has caused me much anguish. While putting away his cuff links, I discovered the wedding band he had from his first marriage. Before we were married he made a big show of "throwing" it in the river. I haven't mentioned this to him, but it has been weighing on my mind. Should I question him about it?

RING TROUBLE
DEAR RING: Tell him you "struck" gold, and clear the air.

DEAR ABBY: Frequently you warn young women to beware of involvements with married men, who are always presented as villains. There is another side to the picture. Secretaries are supposed, traditionally, to fall in love with their bosses. Recently my secretary—an attractive and wholly admirable young woman—made it known to me that she could "care for" me. I was startled, flattered and deeply moved because I am no longer young. I had been happily married for several years, but the emotional situation that followed her declaration was distressing and dangerous. Fortunately, with the support of religion, honor and sense of duty, we were both able to regain our senses. There was no harm done—unless needless and futile heartach is harm.

Please warn young women to be careful of the emotions they loose. Middle-aged men are human, too, and it is neither fair nor safe to ask them to bear the burden of a young woman's emotional experimentation. Sincerely, HUMAN, TOO

DEAR ABBY: I realize that the merchants have to look ahead, but I think they are getting out of hand. Where can you buy a pair of white shoes after July first? Or a bathing suit? Or an organdy dress? Not only are the stores out of what you need when you need it, but they try to put women in flowered straw hats in January, and velvet suits in July. I am dying of the heat, and they have the store windows full of fur coats. Let's get the seasons back on schedule.

J. M.
DEAR J. M.: I am with you. But how?

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL
MAN: There is nothing "weak" about a man's having himself a good cry. Sometimes it takes more courage to cry than to refrain from it.

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Solaqua Garden Club Stages First Meeting of Year

Members of the Solaqua Garden Club enjoyed a luncheon Friday in the home of Mrs. Elzie Brooks of near Robtown.

The occasion marked the first meeting for the fiscal year 1961-62. Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh, Mrs. Charles Huston and Mrs. Ben Walker assisted Mrs. Brooks in the absence of Mrs. Howard Koch, assistant hostess.

Members and guests were seated at tables in the living room and kitchen. Mrs. Brooks repeated the 23rd Psalm and the entire assembly repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison for the devotionals.

The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. James Hott, outgoing president. Roll call and minutes of the August meeting were given by Mrs. Willard Barch. Mrs. Jennie Russell gave the final treasurer report for the year.

Mrs. Hott installed the officers for the coming year. They are: Mrs. C. W. Hedges, president; Mrs. Lee Downs, vice president; Mrs. Ben Walker, secretary; and Mrs. Paul Stout, treasurer.

Mrs. Hedges outlined plans for the coming year and the meeting proceeded with the new officers in charge of the business meeting.

The program was led by Mrs. Brooks who announced that Mrs. Homer Peters would read a paper written by Mrs. Russell Perrill who was unable to attend. She described a trip she had taken recently by a chartered bus to Williamsburg, Washington, D. C. and other points of interest.

Mrs. Perrill mentioned the furnishings in the old houses in Williamsburg. She touched upon the history of the old southern colonies and expressed wonderment at the stamina and fortitude of the pioneers who hacked their way through the wilderness, underwent all manners of hardships and founded the settlement of old Williamsburg.

Mrs. Perrill stated that all gardens surrounding the old mansions in Williamsburg reflected the English influence.

Mrs. Guy Campbell was guest speaker for the meeting. Mrs. Campbell outlined the various reasons for belonging to a garden club and stated that while some people enjoyed growing flowers others liked to be able to arrange and further enjoy them in their homes.

Mrs. Campbell explained the fundamentals of good arranging and demonstrated how to use floral picks, how to anchor the holders, the use of Oasis, how to make an arrangement in a bottle, when and how to use aqua picks, how to achieve lines by the use of wire and divulged many ingenious ways of making plant material comply to the arranger's whims.

She displayed several different types of containers and said most arrangers have one favorite container they enjoy using above all others.

Mrs. Campbell was assisted in her talk by Mrs. Turney Pontious. Both Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Pontious are members of the Pickaway County Garden Club and are veteran arrangers, having won many blue ribbons in flower shows.

The October 6 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. John Eitel, Route 316, with Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh assisting.

Some Brush-Up Tips For House Painters

By ELEANOR ROSS

This is a good time of year for painting the house. While it is quite a job, we've been watching many friends and neighbors tackle it successfully and turning out quite a professional - looking job. They buy quality paint in the color of their choice; they prepare the surface carefully and then they get going.

Sash and Trim The first thing to be done is to painting the window sash and trim if these are to be a different color from the body of the house. The reason for doing these parts first, say the experts, is that it avoids having to rest your ladder against the freshly-painted siding.

For brighter, longer - lasting colors, they specify exterior enamel or special trim paints.

Once the windows are taken care of, you're ready for the body of the house.

Placing Ladder Stand near the lower right-hand corner of the house and see how far to your right you can reach comfortably without endangering your balance. Here's the place to put your ladder, making sure that it is standing firmly and that its foot is at a distance from the house equal to about one-quarter of its length.

Climb carefully to the top, totting your bucket of paint to which is attached a hook so that you can hang it from a ladder rung. Tote your brush - about 3 1/2 to 4 inches is the best size.

Take with you, too, a rag saturated with paint thinner to remove spots in case paint is splashed on the newly - painted trim. Deposit the paint in several spots and join them together by brushing the paint out in long, sweeping strokes.

With horizontal siding, paint the double back and paint the face. If the siding is vertical, first paint the grooves between each board, then the face.

Use your whole arm and paint with the grain where possible, applying the paint from the end of the brush, using both sides of each brushful. Use only enough pressure to curl the end of the bristles slightly. End strokes with a gradual lifting motion.

Best Method Work from a dry area into a wet one and end your paint where the new and just - painted areas meet. Obliterate any brush marks with light, quick strokes of a nearly dry brush.

Most experts recommend working from the top down without moving the ladder. Then start at the top again and paint down. Then there's the school that says it is far better to move the ladder or work from a safe platform so that you can paint completely across the house at each level, this to avoid laps.

Prevent Lap Marks Whatever you do, try to finish each day's or half day's work painting at a window or a corner, again to prevent lap marks.

If you are applying two coats, wait at least 48 hours between coats before starting the new one. If, however, you are using latex house paint, it can usually be recoated in an hour or so or whatever time is specified on the label.

Ohio Native Actor Dies At Age of 77

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Death has ended the 50-year career of actor Fred A. Kelsey, who portrayed character roles in scores of silent and talking pictures.

Kelsey, 77, died Saturday at the Motion Picture Country Home and Hospital in Woodland Hills. Word of his death reached his colleagues Monday.

A derby hat, thick cigar and cropped moustache were Kelsey's most frequent props in early films. A native of Sandusky, Ohio, he began his movie career in 1909 in the East, and came to Hollywood with the late D. W. Griffith after World War I.

His early sound films included "On Trial" and "Tenderloin." Previously he appeared in many silents, among them "Yellow Dog" and "The Gorilla," and in "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" with Rudolph Valentino he enacted four different German officers.

Kelsey had been ill several months. Funeral services were set for today.

Dear Abby...

He Did - but He Didn't

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married only a short time. He was previously married, but I was not.

Although my problem might not sound very serious to you, it has caused me much anguish. While putting away his cuff links, I discovered the wedding band he had from his first marriage. Before we were married he made a big show of "throwing" it in the river. I haven't mentioned this to him, but it has been weighing on my mind. Should I question him about it?

RING TROUBLE DEAR RING: Tell him you "struck" gold, and clear the air.

DEAR ABBY: Frequently you warn young women to beware of involvements with married men, who are always presented as villains. There is another side to the picture. Secretaries are supposed, traditionally, to fall in love with their bosses. Recently my secretary—an attractive and wholly admirable young woman—made it known to me that she could "care for" me. I was startled, flattered and deeply moved because I am no longer young. I had been happily married for several years, but the emotional situation that followed her declaration was distressing and dangerous. Fortunately, with the support of religion, honor and sense of duty, we were both able to regain our senses. There was no harm done—unless needless and futile heartache is harm.

Please warn young women to be careful of the emotions they loose. Middle-aged men are human, too, and it is neither fair nor safe to ask them to bear the burden of a young woman's emotional experimentation. Sincerely, HUMAN, TOO

DEAR ABBY: I realize that the merchants have to look ahead, but I think they are getting out of hand. Where can you buy a pair of white shoes after July first? Or a bathing suit? Or an organdy dress? Not only are the stores out of what you need when you need it, but they try to put women in flowered straw hats in January, and velvet suits in July. I am dying of the heat, and they have the store windows full of fur coats. Let's get the seasons back on schedule. DEAR J. M.: I am with you. But how?

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL MAN: There is nothing "weak" about a man's having himself a good cry. Sometimes it takes more courage to cry than to refrain from it.

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Ernesto Guevara, Cuba's economic chief, has produced a tidy little do-it-yourself book for revolution ary handymen on how to wage guerrilla war.

Although it is based on the tactics Fidel Castro used to demolish the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista, the instructions are not likely to be on Havana's best-seller list and were not intended to be.

Castro's grip on Cuba makes it difficult anytime soon for anyone to make guerrilla war on him. But the book should be useful to groups considering revolution in any of the other Latin-American countries.

Castro himself some time ago announced publicly that he expected to see the Andes Mountains become the birthplace of new Castro-style revolutions in South America. Guevara's book was made to order for that.

Guevara, an Argentine physician and revolutionist who was one of Castro's right-hand men in the war on Batista, is no dope, as he demonstrated a few weeks ago at the Inter-American Conference at Punta di Este, Uruguay.

His book shows extraordinary clarity and is written in a way that any peasant, who could read at all, would be able to understand. At the same time, it avoids talking down. This isn't easy to do, but Guevara managed it.

In his book the guerrilla is a heroic figure—and in many cases he may well be—but while Guevara dwells on death and destruction and sharp reprisals he leaves out much of the unpleasantness that accompanies guerrilla war.

For instance: Stories drifting back from South Viet Nam, where Communist guerrillas from the north are trying to take over, tell of guerrillas driving nails into boards and then covering the boards with earth in the rice fields but leaving the nails sticking up for the peasants to step on.

They get blood-poison, lose a leg, die in agony. Or the guerrillas assassinate uncooperative village head men.

Guevara doesn't go into details about terrorism but suggests:

"Terrorism should be considered a valuable tactic when it is used to put to death some noted leader of the oppressing forces well known for his cruelty, his efficiency in repression, or other quality that makes his elimination useful.

"But the killing of persons of small importance is never advisable, since it brings on an increase of reprisals, including deaths."

But he advises an "absolute inflexibility" toward all the "despicable elements that resort to informing and assassination."

That covers a lot of ground, doesn't make any distinction between facts and suspicion, and doesn't mention trials or juries. In short, Guevara has written a rough book.

For Guevara the ideal age for a guerrilla fighter is between 25 and 35 and he thinks no one below 16 should be accepted.

If you had the idea a guerrilla force has to be pretty big starting out if it hopes to overcome a government army, Guevara disagrees. He thinks a guerrilla war can be started with 30 to 50 men.

With that nucleus he says the people of the countryside can be won over—and more recruits obtained—particularly if the peasants are land-hungry and the guerrillas promise to take the land from the big owners and give it to them.

This isn't pleasant reading for anyone who thinks maybe trouble in Latin America will just go away by itself. The man who wrote these guidelines for trouble is thinking in terms of many years.

Steel Price Boosts Seen

$4 to $5 a Ton Boost Expected on Oct. 1

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel Magazine says selective price increases—averaging $4 to $5 a ton—probably will go into effect around Oct. 1 for carbon sheets, plates, structurals and bars.

The metalworking journal said the odds are about 3 to 2 in favor of the upward adjustment, despite political pressures opposing the action.

The magazine cited as one reason for the proposed price increase the steadily improved business climate and noted the rise in orders for durable goods. It also pointed at what it termed the excellent sales outlook for new cars, and added:

"Steel demand is nearing a level that industry leaders feel will support an increase. Production is at the year's highest rate (about 74 per cent of 1960 capacity), and there's no letup in sight.

"Steelmaking costs will go up another $2 to $3 a ton on Oct. 1 when the United Steelworkers get the third installment of the wage package negotiated in January 1960. Since the last general price increase in August 1958, the hourly cost of wages and benefits has gone up about 10 per cent, but steel prices have gone down 0.6 per cent."

Steel imports rose to 277,000 tons in June, the highest level in 14 months. The magazine said that is a big reason for holding the line on any across-the-board price increase. Exports slipped to 146,000 tons. For the first half, exports of 890,000 tons were valued at $198 million, compared with imports of 1,286,000 tons estimated to be worth only $161 million.

Estimated weekly operations last week was 2.1 million tons, the highest level since the week ended May 9, 1960. The magazine looked for production at close to 2.1 million tons this week, despite the Labor Day holiday. August production was about 8.7 million.

Guevara, an Argentine physician and revolutionist who was one of Castro's right-hand men in the war on Batista, is no dope, as he demonstrated a few weeks ago at the Inter-American Conference at Punta di Este, Uruguay.

His book shows extraordinary clarity and is written in a way that any peasant, who could read at all, would be able to understand. At the same time, it avoids talking down. This isn't easy to do, but Guevara managed it.

In his book the guerrilla is a heroic figure—and in many cases he may well be—but while Guevara dwells on death and destruction and sharp reprisals he leaves out much of the unpleasantness that accompanies guerrilla war.

For instance: Stories drifting back from South Viet Nam, where Communist guerrillas from the north are trying to take over, tell of guerrillas driving nails into boards and then covering the boards with earth in the rice fields but leaving the nails sticking up for the peasants to step on.

They get blood-poison, lose a leg, die in agony. Or the guerrillas assassinate uncooperative village head men.

Guevara doesn't go into details about terrorism but suggests:

"Terrorism should be considered a valuable tactic when it is used to put to death some noted leader of the oppressing forces well known for his cruelty, his efficiency in repression, or other quality that makes his elimination useful.

"But the killing of persons of small importance is never advisable, since it brings on an increase of reprisals, including deaths."

But he advises an "absolute inflexibility" toward all the "despicable elements that resort to informing and assassination."

That covers a lot of ground, doesn't make any distinction between facts and suspicion, and doesn't mention trials or juries. In short, Guevara has written a rough book.

For Guevara the ideal age for a guerrilla fighter is between 25 and 35 and he thinks no one below 16 should be accepted.

If you had the idea a guerrilla force has to be pretty big starting out if it hopes to overcome a government army, Guevara disagrees. He thinks a guerrilla war can be started with 30 to 50 men.

With that nucleus he says the people of the countryside can be won over—and more recruits obtained—particularly if the peasants are land-hungry and the guerrillas promise to take the land from the big owners and give it to them.

This isn't pleasant reading for anyone who thinks maybe trouble in Latin America will just go away by itself. The man who wrote these guidelines for trouble is thinking in terms of many years.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Warm, humid weather continued over Ohio Monday night, with early morning temperatures ranging from 68 at Zanesville to 72 in Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati.

Skies were mostly fair at sunrise today except over the northern third of the state where thundershowers occurred during the night. Bucyrus had a locally heavy storm with 1.51 inches of rain. Youngstown had a shower of .14 inch, and Cleveland reported .06. Mansfield also had a shower.

Hot, humid weather is forecast through Wednesday except for some relief in isolated afternoon thundershowers. High temperatures will again be near the 90's today and Wednesday.

Bloomfield Man Cited by Board

The Ohio Board of Liquor Control will hear charges against a Pickaway County permit holder when it conducts its citation hearings against 88 permit holders in Columbus this week.

William Riser, South Bloomfield, owner of Riser's Restaurant, has been cited for selling malt-liquor to a minor.

Hearings will be held today through Friday in the Board hearing room of the Hub Feder Savings and Loan Building, 219 S. High St., and will be open to the public.

Riser's hearing is slated for Thursday.

Ohio Chess Champs Selected in Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerold Fink of Dayton, Saul Wachos of Columbus and Thomas Lajcik of Cincinnati share the Ohio men's chess championship today after deadlocking on points.

Each won a game and drew one in Monday's deciding matches.

Mrs. Alina Markowski of Toledo took the women's title for the third straight year, and George Berry of Dayton won the junior championship for youths 20 or under.

Steel Price Boosts Seen

$4 to $5 a Ton Boost Expected on Oct. 1

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel Magazine says selective price increases—averaging $4 to $5 a ton—probably will go into effect around Oct. 1 for carbon sheets, plates, structurals and bars.

The metalworking journal said the odds are about 3 to 2 in favor of the upward adjustment, despite political pressures opposing the action.

The magazine cited as one reason for the proposed price increase the steadily improved business climate and noted the rise in orders for durable goods. It also pointed at what it termed the excellent sales outlook for new cars, and added:

"Steel demand is nearing a level that industry leaders feel will support an increase. Production is at the year's highest rate (about 74 per cent of 1960 capacity), and there's no letup in sight.

"Steelmaking costs will go up another $2 to $3 a ton on Oct. 1 when the United Steelworkers get the third installment of the wage package negotiated in January 1960. Since the last general price increase in August 1958, the hourly cost of wages and benefits has gone up about 10 per cent, but steel prices have gone down 0.6 per cent."

Steel imports rose to 277,000 tons in June, the highest level in 14 months. The magazine said that is a big reason for holding the line on any across-the-board price increase. Exports slipped to 146,000 tons. For the first half, exports of 890,000 tons were valued at $198 million, compared with imports of 1,286,000 tons estimated to be worth only $161 million.

Estimated weekly operations last week was 2.1 million tons, the highest level since the week ended May 9, 1960. The magazine looked for production at close to 2.1 million tons this week, despite the Labor Day holiday. August production was about 8.7 million.

New Television Programs To Start Early This Season

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 1961-62 television season, with 34 new programs making their debuts on the three major networks, is experimenting with early curtains this year.

In past seasons, new shows started moving onto the home screens in late September, and continued until late October. This year they will start in the middle of this month, and by the first week in October premiere performances will reach a peak, often with three or more premieres and season premiers on the same evening.

First new program of the season will be NBC's "International Showtime," on Sept. 15. The following night, CBS "The Defenders" will move into the Saturday night schedule. ABC's "Follow the Sun" and CBS "Car 54, Where are You?" will turn up for the first time on the night of the 17th. And after that the pile-up of premieres really begins.

All three networks have been noodling around with their line-ups, and the viewers are in for a period of readjusting our viewing habits. Among the many shows which will turn up at new times are "National Velvet," "The Price is Right," "The Untouchables," "Checkmate," "Sing Along with Mitch," "Tales of Wells Fargo" and "Dinah Shore."

"Robert Taylor's Detectives" moves from ABC to NBC and will be an hour-long show. NBC's "Bachelor Father" moves to ABC.

Some interesting experiments in audience surfeit involve star Robert Young and the "Gunsmoke" series.

Young will be seen weekly on two different evening shows: His new "Window on Main Street" and re-runs of "Father Knows Best." Some inattentive viewers may find themselves extremely confused by the two different characters with the same form and face.

"Gunsmoke" will be an hour-long program this season and will compete with itself. Re-runs of old half-hour shows will be seen on another week-day night.

One of the most interesting aspects of the past summer's television has been the success of the CBS "Playhouse 90" re-runs. The repeats have racked up big audiences and the series has been fully sponsored. The original series died from lack of audience and sponsor interest. If the re-runs were an experiment, it was a good one and perhaps demonstrates that the TV audience is now ready for some meaty, creative dramatic shows.

The current movie-TV fad of signing ballplayers for acting roles is drawing the fire of people inside the industry who think acting roles should go to unemployed professional actors — of whom there are thousands.

One critic of the practice, writing in a show business trade paper, suggests that the situation be evened up by signing actors to play third base. His theory is that if sports fans are lured to movie and TV entertainment programs by the presence of athletes, the TV and movie fans would flock to the ball parks if they knew their favorites would be on view.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—More arms will cost money. And just now Uncle Sam has some delicate problems in raising it.

While waiting for the predicted business upswing to bring it more tax collections the Treasury must borrow some more. It would have needed new cash between now and the end of the year, even if Soviet Premier Khrushchev hadn't ended the nuclear weapon test moratorium with a big blast in Siberia and boasted of the power to deliver the biggest bomb yet anywhere on earth.

The neat trick, if the Treasury can swing it, is to borrow several billion dollars in new cash without sending interest rates discouragingly high on funds business will need for expansion.

It also must try to meet the federal deficit which the arms buildup will swell without putting too much money into the economy in a form that could trigger another shot of monetary inflation. One such form would be too easy bank credit.

So far this year the federal government and more particularly governments at the state and municipal levels have added most to the demand for more loans. Consumers, home builders and corporations have been notably shy about putting pressure on the money market. Even the sharp recovery at the industrial level hasn't quickened the demand for bank loans significantly.

This moderate total demand for new financing was one of the reasons the Treasury in July could offer $16.6 billion securities in exchanges and new financing without disturbing the market. The big transaction had little effect on interest rates. The supply of lendable funds for industry and trade remained ample.

But now some are wondering if there will be a change in the next few months.

Bigger demand for money and a slow rise in interest rates is predicted by Dr. Marcus Nadler, consulting economist to the Hanover Bank of New York.

He looks for the volume of industrial and commercial loans, lagging so far during the recovery, to be lifted as business activity expands and inventories are rebuilt. He thinks consumer credit also will increase.

The economist predicts the growing Treasury deficit will be financed primarily through the sale of short-term securities.

And he thinks more homes will be built and the demand for mortgages will rise. He also expects increased public construction and other state and local government spending will mean more borrowing, and hence more tax exempt securities on the market.

The bank economist stresses that the rise in interest rates will be slow.

Economists at the New York Federal Reserve Bank are cautious in estimating the impact of the rising outlay for defense on the money markets.

They note that with about $4 billion more voted for military spending "a strong expansionary influence" will be added to the economy. But then they add:

"With capacity still ample, deliveries prompt and prices relatively stable, the demands arising from the added spending need not by themselves cause a marked revision in business inventory policies or a marked expansion of facilities."

In other words, there won't necessarily be an immediate upsurge in the demand for loans. And hence the pressure on interest rates could be moderate.

What the money managers do about it will be watched closely. How the Treasury handles its need for more cash will have immediate effect on the money markets. How the Federal Reserve Board sets the credit course — keeping the supply ample to encourage business activity, or tightening it if higher prices threaten—may also be affected by the turn of events in the cold war.

Above all, how the public responds to war jitters and the arms race will determine whether there's a rush to buy goods and build up stocks and thus raise prices, and in turn wages.

Boy Runs into Side Of Train, Is Injured

CLEVELAND (AP)—Michael Huffneagle, 17, suffered a skull fracture Monday when he accidentally ran into the side of a slow-moving Nickel Plate locomotive at the rear of an auto wrecking yard at 2426 W. 25th St. He was reported in fair condition at Lutheran Hospital.

John E. Sewolich, owner of the wrecking company, told police Michael and some other youths were running from him after he had shouted at them to stop shooting at pigeons with air rifles.

Bulb with Long Life

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Wagons and carriages moved through the streets of Raleigh when Mrs. Palmer Dalrymple's millinery shop was equipped with electric lights about 1900.

A clear-glass, nipped light bulb replaced kerosene and gas lamps. In 1903, Miss Mamie Gibbons, a Raleigh artist, was troubled by a lack of adequate light in her attic studio. The Dalrymples gave her the electric bulb with large filament.

When Miss Gibbons died at age 85 in 1957 the studio was closed. Her sister gave the bulb to a nephew, Charles Gibbons of Raleigh. The bulb still gives off light in the Gibbons household.

Reds Split Twin Bill With Phillies

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"The knuckle is my bread-and-butter pitch," said beaming Ken Johnson, the Cincinnati Reds' new pitching find.

"And you know, when I was with the Kansas City A's last year they wouldn't let me throw it."

Let that be a lesson to the American Leaguers. Castoff Johnson knuckle-balled his way Monday to a 5-0 shutout of the newly-troublesome Philadelphia Phillies.

Johnson's opener victory was followed by a 5-3 loss to the Phils, leaving the Reds only two games ahead of Los Angeles in the National League chase.

Johnson gave up only four hits, two by former Redleg Tony Gonzalez.

His teammates helped by picking up four runs before the game was four innings old.

Eddie Kasko's homer after Elio Chacon bunted safely gave the Reds a quick jump in the first inning when they routed Frank Sullivan, Johnny Edwards in the second singled in Gene Freese who had walked and stolen second.

It was Freese again in the fourth, doubling and darting home on Edwards' single.

A good-measure marker came in the ninth. Chacon singled, stole second and scored on Kasko's single.

Cincinnati Art Mahaffey (10-18), checked the Reds in the nightcap. The Phillie right-hander yielded a run in the fourth and nothing else until a two-run ninth.

The Phils did little with starter Ken Hunt until the fourth, but raised big trouble after he opened an old gash on his pitching hand and had to retire in favor of Sherman Jones.

Indians Do OK against Boston Sox

BOSTON (AP)—If the Cleveland Indians could have played more games in Fenway Park they might rank higher in the American League.

They have won six of seven here this season, helping them to a 12-4 record against the Red Sox. The latest was a 7-1 victory Monday in the opener of a three-game series winding up competition between the clubs this year.

Barry Latman (11-4) will start for the Tribe tonight if his blistered finger permits. Wynn Hawkins (6-9) will go if Latman can't. Gene Conley (9-11) is scheduled for the Red Sox.

Jim Grant (14-8) was the winner Monday as the Indians got 15 hits. Grant got help from Frank Funk, who made his 51st appearance of the season.

Johnny Temple and Willie Kirkland got three hits apiece for Cleveland and Vic-Power, Woodie Held and Bubba Phillips each got two. Temple and Kirkland also had a stolen base apiece. Temple's was his ninth and he leads the Indians in that department.

Despite the score, the victory was not an easy one. Grant had to pitch out of jams in the second, third and fourth innings. The issue wasn't tied until the ninth, when the Indians got three runs off Billy Muffett who was in relief of starter and loser Ike De-lock (6-8).

Oklahoma has played in nine football bowl games, winning seven and losing two.

Bob McFadden, Erma Hedges New Golf Champions at PCC

Bob McFadden and Erma Hedges are the new Pickaway Country Club golf champions following weekend matches at the Stouffville Pike course.

McFadden won his first club championship by defeating young Brent Bell, 8 and 7, in a match scheduled for 36 holes. Mrs. Hedges edged past Bette Fraser, 3 and 2, over the 18-hole route.

McFadden held a small 2-up lead at the end of the first nine as he fired a one over par 37 compared to 39 for Bell.

In the next nine holes, Bob, a foreman at the DuPont plant, shot one of the finest rounds ever seen in the championship match here, coming home with a 4 under par 32. He started with a birdie 3

Ohioan Helps Win Crosscountry Flight

TETERBORO, N. J. (AP)—Ernest Hall of Warren, Ohio, landed a Cessna plane at Teterboro Airport Monday to climax a coast-to-coast relay race that started Aug. 26 in Oakland, Calif.

The race was between two teams from the Silver Wings, a newly organized national organization of men and women pilots who made a solo flight 25 years prior to the date of their application for membership.

Hall, representing the blue team, landed at Teterboro six minutes ahead of a plane piloted by Charles S. Henry of Clifton, N.J. The final hop was from Allentown, Pa., Airport.

Hall's elapsed time for the nine-day trip was 22 hours, 36 minutes, two hours less than for Henry's Gray team. The plane stopped every night at certain checkoff points and counted their flying time.

Hofstra has become a smaller college football power under Coach Howdy Myers, whose 10 year record is 70 wins, 29 losses and two ties at the Long Island college.

Columbus Jets Win Championship in International Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Columbus has won the pennant in the International League.

The Jets clinched their first flag since joining the triple A league in 1955, with a 4-2 victory at Richmond Monday night.

Second Place Charleston, 7½ games out of first with seven to play, went down fighting as it defeated Jersey City in both ends of a doubleheader, 14-5, 4-0. Buffalo clobbered Rochester 11-0. Toronto and Syracuse split, the Maple Leafs taking the opener 8-2, the Chiefs the nightcap, 2-0.

Richmond starter Fred Kipp set up a pair of two-run Columbus rallies with his wildness. A single by Jim Mahoney, two walks and two wild pitches enabled the Jets to take a 2-1 lead in the fifth. They added the winning margin in the next frame on a hit batsman, a double by Bob Oldis and a single by Mahoney. Fred Green won his sixth game.

Marathon Race Marred by 2 Deaths

READER, W. Va. (AP)—In just three years, a 10½-mile Labor Day marathon run here has grown from a figment of a local youth's imagination into a project supported by the whole community.

But today, after two deaths from heat exhaustion in this year's up-and-downhill grind in 90-degree temperatures, the future of the race appeared uncertain.

Barry Van Emburgh, 21, of Aliquippa, Pa., and Dennis Dean Stoner, 18, of Youngstown, Ohio, collapsed during Monday's race and were pronounced dead at a New Martinsville hospital about 15 miles away.

Reader, a community of about 500 at the base of West Virginia's northern panhandle, is the home of West Virginia University track star Herb Rogers. And Rogers dreamed of a marathon patterned after one at Burwick, Pa.

WVU track Coach Stan Roman-ski joined in the idea, and the marathon has become the official distance race of the West Virginia Amateur Athletic Union. It also has become just about the biggest annual event in Reader.

Residents furnished lodging and meals for all runners. There were 23 entries in this year's race won by Barry Binkley of Cincinnati, Ohio, a Bowling Green (Ohio)

University student, in 1 hour and 13 minutes.

OSU Gridders Set For New Practice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's football team was scheduled for two more two-hour morning and afternoon workouts today after the season's first full-squad, full-uniform practice session Monday in 90-degree temperature.

Today, however, news photographers were to have their day with the Buckeyes, with the players probably to workout only in shorts after the picture-taking session.

Local Pigeons Take Top Places

First, third and fourth places in the Chillicothe Pigeon Club's 150-mile race from North Vernon, Ind., Saturday were won by Circleville owners.

Top place went to Fred Wolfe, Route 3, whose pigeon traveled 1,259.816 yards per minute. Third and fourth places were earned by birds owned by Virgil Russell, 360 Logan St.

Second place went to Robert Stewart of Chillicothe.

Competing in the race were 64 birds from 10 lofts.

Reds Split Twin Bill With Phillies

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"The knuckler is my bread-and-butter pitch," said beaming Ken Johnson, the Cincinnati Reds' new pitching find.

"And you know, when I was with the Kansas City A's last year they wouldn't let me throw it."

Let that be a lesson to the American Leaguers. Castoff Johnson knuckle-balled his way Monday to a 5-0 shutout of the newly-troublesome Philadelphia Phillies.

Johnson's opener victory was followed by a 5-3 loss to the Phils, leaving the Reds only two games ahead of Los Angeles in the National League chase.

Johnson gave up only four hits, two by former Redleg Tony Gonzalez.

His teammates helped by picking up four runs before the game was four innings old.

Eddie Kasko's homer after Elio Chacon bunted safely gave the Reds a quick jump in the first inning when they routed Frank Sullivan. Johnny Edwards in the second singled in Gene Freese who had walked and stolen second.

It was Freese again in the fourth, doubling and darting home on Edwards' single.

A good-measure marker came in the ninth. Chacon singled, stole second and scored on Kasko's single.

Cincinnati Art Mahaffey (10-18), checked the Reds in the nightcap. The Phillie right-hander yielded a run in the fourth and nothing else until a two-run ninth.

The Phils did little with starter Ken Hunt until the fourth, but raised big trouble after he opened an old gash on his pitching hand and had to retire in favor of Sherman Jones.

Indians Do OK against Boston Sox

BOSTON (AP)—If the Cleveland Indians could have played more games in Fenway Park they might rank higher in the American League.

They have won six of seven here this season, helping them to a 12-4 record against the Red Sox. The latest was a 7-1 victory Monday in the opener of a three-game series winding up competition between the clubs this year.

Barry Latman (11-4) will start for the Tribe tonight if his blistered finger permits. Wynn Hawkins (6-9) will go if Latman can't. Gene Conley (9-11) is scheduled for the Red Sox.

Jim Grant (14-8) was the winner Monday as the Indians got 15 hits. Grant got help from Frank Funk who made his 51st appearance of the season.

Johnny Temple and Willie Kirkland got three hits apiece for Cleveland and Vic Power, Woodie Held and Bubba Phillips each got two. Temple and Kirkland also had a stolen base apiece. Temple's was his ninth and he leads the Indians in that department.

Despite the victory, the victory was not an easy one. Grant had to pitch out of jams in the second, third and fourth innings. The issue wasn't iced until the ninth, when the Indians got three runs off Billy Muffett who was in relief of starter and loser Ike DeLoach (6-8).

Oklahoma has played in nine football bowl games, winning seven and losing two.

Bob McFadden, Erma Hedges New Golf Champions at PCC

Bob McFadden and Erma Hedges are the new Pickaway Country Club golf champions following weekend matches at the Stoussville Pike course.

McFadden won his first club championship by defeating young Brent Bell, 8 and 7, in a match scheduled for 36 holes. Mrs. Hedges edged past Bette Fraser, 3 and 2, over the 18-hole route.

McFadden held a small 2-up lead at the end of the first nine as he fired a one over par 37 compared to 39 for Bell.

In the next nine holes, Bob, a foreman at the DuPont plant, shot one of the finest rounds ever seen in the championship match here, coming home with a 4 under par 32. He started with a birdie 3.

Ohioan Helps Win Crosscountry Flight

TETERBORO, N. J. (AP)—Ernest Hall of Warren, Ohio, landed a Cessna plane at Teterboro Airport Monday to climax a coast-to-coast relay race that started Aug. 26 in Oakland, Calif.

The race was between two teams from the Silver Wings, a newly organized national organization of men and women pilots who made a solo flight 25 years prior to the date of their application for membership.

Hall, representing the blue team, landed at Teterboro six minutes ahead of a plane piloted by Charles S. Henry of Clifton, N.J. The final hop was from Allentown, Pa., Airport.

Hall's elapsed time for the nine-day trip was 22 hours, 36 minutes, two hours less than for Henry's Gray team. The plane stopped every night at certain checkoff points and counted their flying time.

Hofstra has become a smaller college football power under Coach Howdy Myers, whose 10 year record is 70 wins, 29 losses and two ties at the Long Island college.

Columbus Jets Win Championship in International Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Columbus has won the pennant in the International League.

The Jets clinched their first flag since joining the triple A league in 1955, with a 4-2 victory at Richmond Monday night.

Second Place Charleston, 7½ games out of first with seven to play, went down fighting as it defeated Jersey City in both ends of a doubleheader, 14-5, 4-0. Buffalo clobbered Rochester 11-0. Toronto and Syracuse split, the Maple Leafs taking the opener 8-2, the Chiefs the nightcap, 2-0.

Richmond starter Fred Kipp set up a pair of two-run Columbus rallies with his wildness. A single by Jim Mahoney, two walks and two wild pitches enabled the Jets to take a 2-1 lead in the fifth. They added the winning margin in the next frame on a hit batsman, a double by Bob Oldis and a single by Mahoney. Fred Green won his sixth game.

Yankees Build 6-Game Lead In AL Flag Race

Maris Goes Hitless, Mantle Benched, but Bombers Roll Along

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Yankees, with Mickey Mantle sidelined by injury and Roger Maris hitless, swept a Labor Day doubleheader from Washington 5-3 and 3-2 and gained a six-game lead—the biggest bulge of the season in the American League — over Detroit.

The second place Tigers, who trailed New York by only 1 1/2 games just a week ago, lost their fourth in a row 6-3 at Baltimore in the first game of a two-night pair. The second game was suspended by curfew after eight innings, with Baltimore leading 4-1.

The Chicago White Sox split a pair of 9-5 decisions in a day-night doubleheader at Minnesota, Cleveland beat Boston 7-2 and Kansas City divided a doubleheader with Los Angeles, winning 13-7 after the Angels had taken the opener 4-3.

In the National League, Cincinnati whipped Philadelphia 5-0, but the last-place Phils took the night games. The second-place Dodgers defeated San Francisco 4-0. The Chicago Cubs beat Milwaukee 6-3, and St. Louis walloped Pittsburgh 9-4.

The Tigers out-hit Baltimore 9-7 in the first game, but blew a 2-0 lead when the Orioles tagged loser Paul Foytack (10-9) for four runs in the fourth inning. Jackie Brandt and Charlie Lau hit home runs in the rally, with Lau, a one-time Tiger, breaking a 2-2 tie with a two-run shot. Jack Fisher (9-11) was the winner, with relief help.

In the suspended game, to be completed tonight, errors by Rocky Colavito, Billy Bruton and Dick Brown of the Tigers led to the Orioles' first three runs off Ron Kline. Detroit scored off Buy Hoefft in the sixth on a single by Al Kaline and a double by Colavito.

Johnny Blanchard, subbing for Mantle in the Yankee outfield, was 3-for-3 in the opener and broke a 3-3 tie with a home run in the eighth inning off loser Bennie Daniels (8-10). Rookie Hal Reniff (2-0) was the winner with two innings of perfect relief. In the nightcap, Clete Boyer homered for the Yanks' first run and drove in the winning run in the seventh with a sacrifice fly as New York once again came from behind. Bud Daley (10-16) was the winner and Pete Burnside (1-7) the loser.

Mantle, whose 50 home runs leave him all even with the pace set by Babe Ruth when he hit a record 60 in 1927, may miss tonight's game because of a strained arm muscle. Maris, with 53 home runs, is five games ahead of Ruth.

Big innings decided each game at Minnesota. The Twins built a 9-0 lead in the opener for Al Schroll (2-3) on Harmon Killebrew's 39th home run, off loser Frank Baumann (9-12), and a six-run fourth inning. In the nightcap, Roy Sievers drove in two runs with a double as the White Sox came from behind against Jim Kaat (7-14) with five runs in the fourth for an 8-5 lead. Joel Horlen, just up from the minors, was the winner in relief.

Willie Kirkland drove in two runs with a pair of singles and double for the Indians while Jim Grant (14-8) and Frank Funk held the Red Sox to seven hits. Ike

5 of Tanker Crew Injured In Explosion

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—The Imperial Oil ship Hamilton lay crippled in the St. Clair River today and five of the tanker's crewmen were in the hospital in the aftermath of an explosion Monday of gasoline vapor.

The river, which separates Sarnia from Port Huron, Mich., was washing away some of the tons of foam used to keep the tanker fire from spreading to the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd., 400-acre refinery, adjacent to the company locks.

The 250-foot tanker was loading gasoline when the explosion rocked her, setting off a fire that raged 2½ hours and burned out her stern section. All five of the injured men had been working in the stern.

A company spokesman said it was almost unbelievable that there were no deaths and so few were injured. The ship has a crew of 25.

The refinery manager, William J. Beynon, said the explosion probably resulted when the ship's boiler fire ignited gasoline vapor. He said the ship had been building up steam, getting ready to leave.

The blast splintered 150 feet of pier. Cook Gilbert Johnston, 25, who was working in the galley, said "I was just putting a pumpkin pie in the oven when the blast blew me under the sink. Another blast blew me into the companion way and I crawled away with stuff flying around."

History of Beer Fascinating One

By FRANK WATSON
Central Press Association
Staff Writer

BEER DRINKERS — the next time you have a bottle, can, stein or glass of suds in your hand, raise a toast to Mesopotamia.

It was in that ancient area — now the modern nation of Iraq — that the earliest written reference to beer appeared. It reveals that some 4,000 years ago brewing ranked well up on the list of honored professions.

Mention that fact to the Little Woman if she ever objects to your having a few brews with the boys. If that doesn't convince her, then tell her that the "master" brewers back in those ancient days were the ladies.

Actually, beer is a drink so ancient that it predates history and man enjoyed it a long time before he got around to writing about how much he enjoyed it.

Adding their praises to beer in their various languages were the ancient Egyptians, Greeks, Romans and Chinese.

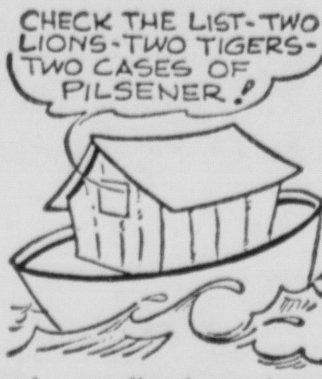

The rugged Vikings, who were said to consume six meals a day and drink a soup of bread and beer with each, downed incredible quantities of the brew. In fact, the Vikings were convinced that beer appeared on the tables of Valhalla, the Great Hall where, according to Norse mythology, Odin, the All-

Father, is host to the souls of all heroes who have fallen bravely in battle.

Noah not only had two of every kind of creature aboard his ark, but he also had a supply of beer aboard, according to an Assyrian tablet dating from 2000 B.C.

Two of history's greatest leaders, the Emperor Charlemagne and Frederick the Great, considered beer to be important. Charlemagne trained the brewers of his realm himself. At the age of 19, Frederick the Great was apprenticed to a brewer.

The first Queen Elizabeth, fond of her "smalle Beere" sent couriers ahead to take a taste of the brew at any place she wished to visit. If the thirsty tasters brought back an unfavorable verdict, the queen sent a supply of her own beer ahead.

The present Queen Elizabeth had brews especially prepared for her coronation in 1953.

The Mayflower brought a quantity of beer in for the colonists and it lasted just a short while. As the colonists set up their various shops and small factories, they also set up their own breweries.

The glass of beer of today that lends cool comfort to a hot day is a much improved one over the kind the natives of Mesopotamia tasted.

Triple Killer Caught Quickly After Escape

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — James Gordon Palmer, quick on the trigger triple murderer, escaped from Menard Penitentiary Monday but was caught within an hour when Warden Ross Randolph's wife spotted him with her new field glasses.

Palmer scaled the tall brown stone prison administration building, using a drainpipe and notches in the stone, and made a dash for the nearby Mississippi River.

Mrs. Randolph was in the warden's living quarters, three stories high, when the alarm sounded. She picked up a pair of binoculars the warden recently had given her and with her son Ronnie, 15, walked out on a porch.

Mrs. Randolph said, "Ronnie had the glasses when I thought I saw a man's arm on a buoy out in the river."

Mrs. Randolph took the field glasses, made sure it was a man and informed a prison officer who dispatched a boatload of guards to the buoy.

Palmer, 22, who is so dangerous he is even feared by his fellow prisoners, was pulled spluttering from the murky water, barefoot and clad in light prison clothing.
